"The Revolving Door"

Trauma-informed client care for frontline workers working with individuals impacted by complex trauma and gender-based violence, such as:

- Human Trafficking
- Intimate partner violence
- Exploitation
- Individuals experiencing poverty, mental health challenges, exploitation, homelessness, and financial crisis

Understanding complex trauma from the survivor's perspective:

- ✓ The mindset of a victim(s) before being trafficked—from a survivor and science perspective

How do you work with clients living in the "revolving door" stage?

- ✓ The mindset of a victim when they first meet a police or social service provider
- ✓ The mindset of a victim while they are being groomed
- ✓ The mindset of a victim while they are being trafficked
- ✓ How do you connect with the clients?
- ✓ How do you de-escalate the clients?
- ✓ How do you build a rapport?
- ✓ How do you provide support with limited or no resources?

AND ROLE-PLAY—Playing out real-life scenarios such as:

- Vehicle stop
- Hotel call
- 3 am, side-of-the-road incident
- Office appointments (Housing, OW, Probation, and more)
